What is a case competition?

Case competitions are valuable experiential learning opportunities for students to test their knowledge and ability to think quickly and critically in a simulated role play scenario.

The top JSGS students from the case competition go on to represent the school in the 2017 IPAC/CAPPA National Public Administration Case Competition hosted by the Ryerson University, Toronto on February 17-18, 2017.

How does it work?

Student teams are judged on their ability to provide options and recommendations on complex policy issues to a panel of experienced and professional judges. The winning team will be announced at the reception, which follows the final team presentation.
