ADVANCING RECONCILIATION IN THE JUSTICE SYSTEM: PERSPECTIVES FROM THE BENCH

In celebration of Law Day, JSGS and CBA Saskatchewan are pleased to host this public lecture.

Presented by:

The Honourable Judge Michelle R. Brass, Provincial Court of Saskatchewan

The Honourable Judge Mary McAuley, Provincial Court of Saskatchewan

The Honourable Judge Pat Reis, Provincial Court of Saskatchewan

Moderated by Merelda Fiddler-Potter, Vanier Scholar & JSGS Executive-in-Residence

Friday, March 11, 2022

12:00 - 1:30 pm CST

This lecture will be available via Zoom. Please register online and the connection details will be emailed to you. At the time this event takes place, CST (SK) will be one hour ahead of MST, and one hour behind EST.

This lecture has been approved for 1.5 CPD Ethics hours by the Law Society of Saskatchewan.

Law Day events originally focused on celebrating the signing of Canada's Charter of Rights and Freedoms. They are also an opportunity to engage in public dialogue and to reflect on the role of law and the justice system in important areas of public policy. This year, JSGS and CBA Saskatchewan will co-host a panel discussion with Judges from the Provincial Court of Saskatchewan who will share their insights and experiences regarding efforts to advance Reconciliation in the justice system. Among other topics, the panelists will consider lessons that might be drawn from Saskatchewan's Cree Court to inform approaches in other areas.
