As we exit the pandemic, we need to turn our attention to the challenges of building a more productive economy, tackling climate change, adjusting to demographic shifts, addressing socio-economic inequities and better preparing ourselves for future health crises.

The 131 member organizations of the Coalition for a Better Future are united in our belief that economic growth is a necessary precondition for job creation, rising incomes, a cleaner environment, and a better quality of life. It is time to reimagine what Canada is capable of achieving—to embrace an ambitious vision for inclusive, sustainable economic growth and opportunity for all.
