

Behavioural Interviews are a common interview style that is being used in most government and non-government organizations. But what is a Behavioural Interview, how does it differ from a traditional interview style? How can you successfully participate in a Behavioural Interview to secure the job you want?

The key goals of this workshop are:

- 1) to familiarize participants with Behavioural Interviews;
- 2) to learn how to interview effectively;
- 3) to provide participants with examples of Behavioural Interview questions; and
- 4) to teach participants how to avoid the common mistakes made in the interviewing process.

Who should attend?

JSGS students who have applied for a JSGS Executive Internships are encouraged to attend, though this workshop is open to all JSGS students. Those attending will receive one 990 credit.

Registration Fees and Eligibility Criteria:

- ~ Workshop is free of charge
- ~ Registrants must be current (not graduated) JSGS students

Please note: the Art of Interviewing Workshop will be offered at the both of JSGS's campus locations. Complete details can be found on the JSGS Events Calendar, located on the JSGS website.
