CURRENT POSITION

Executive Director
Johnson Shoyama Graduate School of Public Policy

The Johnson Shoyama Graduate is Saskatchewan's Public Policy school created through a joint venture between the University of Regina and the University of Saskatchewan. The School is co-located at both university campuses and currently offers six academic programs, an executive internship program, and a range of professional development offerings. The Executive Director is responsible for the content and delivery of the School's academic programs, strategic research direction, community outreach, and academic conference, and the executive education the School's Outreach and Training Unit offers. The position also demands a great deal of stakeholder engagement with the universities' leadership teams, the provincial and federal government, students and alumni, donors, and other partners.

PRIOR ADMINISTRATIVE EXPERIENCE

2013-15   Director   Johnson Shoyama Graduate School of Public Policy

As the Director of the JSGS University of Regina campus I was responsible for supporting the overall objectives of the School, discharging those duties and achieving those goals that are specifically assigned, and directly supporting the work of the JSGS Executive Director. I was also responsible for supervising the University of Regina faculty and staff, financial management, government relations, student recruitment, program management and planning. As a decanal equivalent I also represent the School on the University of Regina University Leadership team in the areas of research and administration.

2010-13   Graduate Chair   Johnson Shoyama Graduate School of Public Policy

In my role as JSGS University of Regina Graduate Chair I was responsible for managing the MPP and PhD programs. Duties included student counseling, PhD programming, chairing admission processes and serving as the Chair on all MPP and PhD committees. I was also responsible for working directly with the University of Saskatchewan Graduate Chair to develop and achieved enrolment targets, coordinate comprehensive exams, and manage the JSGS 990 seminar series.
